BOY KILLED, THREE HURT, IN DYNAMITE BLAST

IRISH ARE PAYING LAND SUMS INTO SEPARATE FUND

British Commons Learns of Valera Government's Move Shortly After Hearing Thomas Ask House to Vote 100 Per Cent Tariff Against Goods From Free State

London, July 4.—The Irish Free State is paying the land annuities due to Britain into a separate fund pending settlement of the dispute over them, the Commons was officially informed this evening. The Free State defaulted payment of the half-yearly sum of the annuities to the National Debt Commissioners last week.

London, July 4.—Before a crowded House of Commons, Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominion Secretary, this evening moved a resolution empowering duties not exceeding 100 per cent ad valorem on imports from the Irish Free State.

The minister said he deeply regretted the circumstances responsible for the motion. Its introduction followed without delay the refusal by the Irish Free State Government to accept an Empire tribunal for arbitration of the land annuities payments to British which it defaulted last week.

"We would welcome a peaceful solution," Mr. Thomas said, "but we have gone to the limit of compromise in hope that even now the Free State sees the reasonableness of our claims."

CAR WRECKED IN ACCIDENT

P. Belson, Sidney, Escapes With Cut Head in Crash on North Quadra Street

Percy Belson of Sidney wrecked his car but escaped with a cut on the head as his only injury in an accident on North Quadra Street, near Rockhome Gardens, at 12:30 o'clock this morning.

Mr. Belson was travelling from the city on his way home to Sidney. As his car was making the turn near Rockhome it left the road, struck a group of rural mail boxes and then smashed into an electric light pole.

After the impact the machine turned over. It was described as a complete wreck.

Mr. Belson crawled out from underneath the car. He had a gash on the head, but was otherwise uninjured, and was taken to his home after the wound was dressed.

Chief Allan Rankin and Constable Eric Pollard visited the scene for the Saanich police.

U.S. PROHIBITION REPEAL OPPOSED

Washington, July 4.—Senator Morris Sheppard, Democrat, Texas, author of the prohibition amendment, today said he was opposed to repeal or modification of the 18th Amendment and to modification of the Volstead Act, and would vote against such action unless directed to vote for it by a referendum in his state.

In a statement clarifying his previously expressed views, the Texas announced he also opposed submission of the liquor question and would vote against it.

Rains Improve Crop Outlook On Prairies

But Critical Days For Grain Still Ahead, Says Pool Publicity Director

Toronto, July 4.—The three-year drought from which parts of the prairies suffered appears definitely broken, states W. A. Macleod, director of publicity for the three wheat pools. However, he points out, this year's wheat crop has still several hurdles to surmount before anything like an accurate estimate can be made of the probable yield.

"The psychological effect on the west of the more generous rainfall has given hope and heart to the farmers," Mr. Macleod said, in an interview today, during a visit to Toronto. "They look forward to feed and seed and some surplus to sell. Instead of distress and Russian thistles—though prices for practically all farm products are away below cost of production."

TWELVE PLANES OFFER THRILLS

Daring Stunts Scheduled at Gordon Head Airport This Evening

Speed Flying and Parachute Jumping Included in Programme

Rain and wind caused a disappointment for hundreds of spectators who went to the Gordon Head airport yesterday for the first day of the air pageant of the B.C. Air Tour Committee but the group of daring fliers assembled here for the most spectacular demonstration of flying ever offered, planned to make up for it today.

Yesterday was supposed to be devoted to passenger flights but Pilot A. H. Wilson, leader of the tour, took several brief flights and decided conditions were too bad for any of the other planes to leave the ground. Hundreds who had contemplated flights and most of them maiden flights, had to postpone the experience. The crowds took much interest in viewing the greatest aggregation of airplanes ever seen on Vancouver Island so the day was not completely lost. They ranged from the six-place Lockheed plane with a speed of 240 miles an hour to small two passenger planes with a seventy-five-mile-an-hour speed.

To mark the opening of the Gordon Head Airport today the fliers were prepared with a programme packed with thrills. What airmen describe as a "rat chase" opened the proceedings this afternoon when all the planes sped over the city to the amusement of citizens who had not anticipated the unlisted item on the programme. Mayor Leeming will cut the ribbon to the airport at 6:30 o'clock this evening. In addition to passenger flights the following programme is scheduled: 6:30—Three musketeers of the air. Featuring A. H. Wilson, Maurice McGregor and Don Lawson in a fifteen-minute performance.

STEEL LEADERS IN CONFERENCE

British Delegates Discuss Trade Possibilities With Producers in Canada

Montreal, July 4.—The British steel men visiting Canada for conferences with Canadian industrialists preliminary to the Imperial Economic Conference, today were deciding on their programme. They arrived in Quebec June 29.

Discussions will take place with representatives of most of the steel mills in Canada in the hope of finding ways to improve intra-empire trade. There are ten men in the British party.

A. J. Grant, president of the National Federation of Iron and Steel Manufacturers, is chairman of the British group, and Sir William Larkie, director of the National Federation of Iron and Steel Manufacturers, is deputy chairman.

A considerable field exists for diverting empire iron and steel purchases from foreign manufacturers, to empire producers, say the British delegates.

BIG LOAN PLAN IN AUSTRALIA

Sydney, Aus., July 4.—A tentative scheme for an internal loan of £10,000,000 to be devoted to works for unemployment relief was under consideration by the Premier's Conference at Canberra today, according to The Sydney Herald.

As outlined by The Herald's correspondent, the principal would be repaid in instalments over a period of years from the proceeds of a tax on wages.

Meanwhile the conference had agreed to ask the Commonwealth Bank of Australia to advance £16,890,000, of which £10,000,000 would be used for financing budget deficits of the federal and state governments alike, and £6,890,000 for unemployment relief works, the balance to be paid into trust and other funds.

MAY BE CUBA'S PRESIDENT

Well-informed political circles in Havana assert that appointment of Dr. Orestes Ferrara as Secretary of State portends the resignation soon of President Gerardo Machado. Under Cuban law the Secretary of State succeeds to the presidency when that office becomes vacant. It is said Dr. Ferrara is considered an acceptable interim President, although his Italian birth bars him from candidacy at the regular election scheduled for January 1. The picture shows Dr. and Mrs. Ferrara.

State Cotton Trade Pact Is Impossible

Canadian Mill Owners Issue Statement Declaring British Delegation Made "Demands" For Too Large Share of Dominion Field

Montreal, July 4.—Couched in emphatic terms, a statement was issued today by Canadian cotton mill owners respecting the recently concluded conference with representatives of the British cotton industry. The statement was issued in reply to the report made to Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Colonies, by members of the British delegation on their return to England from Canada.

"The British delegates show a grossly inaccurate knowledge of the Canadian situation," the statement says, "based on the prejudiced views of the Manchester merchants and Canadian importers."

DESKED AS DEMANDS
The Canadian cotton men pay respect to the courtesy and friendliness of John H. Grey, who headed the British delegation, but contend the British requests were put in the form of "demands" which the Lancashire men declined to modify.

LOST AVIATORS ARE RESCUED

Sydney, Australia, July 4.—Capt. Hans Bertram, German aviator, and his companion, a man named Clausman, who had been missing since May 17, were found alive today.

The two aviators dropped out of sight after they had taken off from Kupang Island on a flight across the Timor Sea to Port Darwin in northern Australia. The first news of their fate came in the middle of June, when natives handed over to a missionary a handkerchief and cigarette case on which were the initials H.B.

The natives also said they found footprints of two men going southward about 100 miles north of Wyndham. Afterward the plane was found abandoned, and with it a message saying the fliers had gone into the bush. It was feared they had been murdered by a native tribe.

A search was begun immediately which has been maintained ever since. The aviators told a tale of harrowing experiences and suffering which began when the middle of May, when they landed eighty miles from Wyndham.

They were at last discovered by natives seventy-two miles from their abandoned plane. The natives had supplied them with food and sent for assistance. Bertram, just able to walk, was carrying a piece of cooked kangaroo in a towel.

Mother Held After Death of Child

Kitchener, Ont., July 4.—Lorne Reist, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Mennie Reist of Elmhurst, was slain at his parents' farm home today. His mother this afternoon was arrested charged with the killing. Police state she killed the child with a flatiron.

ALDERDICE TO VISIT OTTAWA

Canadian Press
St. John's, Nfld., July 4.—Hon. F. C. Alderdice, who recently became Prime Minister following the defeat of the Liberal Party headed by Sir Richard Squires, will attend the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa. He will be supported by a delegation from the St. John's board of trade, including Hon. F. McNamara, the president, C. Noonan and Wilfred Dave.

CIVIC HEADS MEET CABINET

Municipal Union's Committee Calls For Changes in Relief Methods

Cannot Continue at Present Rate, Government Ministers Told

To present a resolution which calls for a drastic overhauling of the methods and responsibility of unemployment relief in British Columbia, a special committee of the Union of B.C. Municipalities this morning went into conference in the executive chamber at the Parliament Buildings with the provincial cabinet.

Alderman John Bennett, chairman of the Vancouver City Council's finance committee, headed the delegation which included Mayor Leeming of Victoria, Reeve Crouch of Saanich, Mayor A. H. Bridgman of North Vancouver, and Reeve R. C. McDonald of Coquitlam.

Prior to entering the conference the municipal union representatives explained briefly the seriousness of the situation faced by many municipalities in the province in regard to relief. Financially, they claim, they cannot continue under the present system. Vancouver and Victoria are in a particularly unfortunate position because contributions on their relief distributions as yet and are forced to pay interest at the bank on sums they have borrowed to cover the cost.

GETTING WORSE
Instead of decreasing, unemployment is increasing, they assert, and several municipalities face the probability that the amounts they budgeted for relief at the beginning of the year will not be sufficient to cover the cost. Vancouver made an appropriation of $800,000 as its own third of direct relief for the year and to the end of June has already spent $445,000, which is $45,000 more than half the estimate. With the heavy months of November and December to come that city faces an overexpenditure of possibly $150,000.

The main plank of the municipal union platform on relief, adopted at the Nelson convention, is a reiteration of their stand that relief is solely a federal matter and should be handled as such. Furthermore, they are opposed to the system of direct relief, favoring works of a constructive nature which will enable payment in cash to the workers.

While they seek a solution as soon as possible, one of the most pressing matters at present is the question of the government relief camps, some of which have been closed down. The government is strongly in favor of having these kept in operation.

Two planks of the resolution deal with financial arrangements of municipalities, one in regard to seeing the government to make over relief costs from a municipality which finds it is unable to continue to meet them. The other requests government aid in arranging credits for relief when municipalities cannot do so.

All members of the cabinet with the exception of Premier Toole, who is absent from the city, were present at the conference. After two hours, in session several deputy ministers and officials were summoned to take part in the discussions. It was expected the meeting would continue late in the afternoon after an adjournment for lunch.

BIG CROWD AT LONDON TRIAL

Mrs. Dolores Barney Collapses During Hearing; Accused of Slaying

London, July 4.—Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, former actress, appeared in the Old Bailey Court today and answered "not guilty" to the charge of having shot and killed Michael Scott Stephens in her apartment, May 31. The court room was crowded with spectators.

With Mr. Justice Humphreys on the bench, Sir Percival Clark opened the case for the prosecution.

Stephen, twenty-six years old, was shot May 31 following a party in Mrs. Barney's apartment in Williams News, Knightsbridge.

At one point during the examination of various witnesses for the prosecution this afternoon, Mrs. Barney collapsed and was administered restoratives.

Explosion of Detonator Caps Takes Life of One Lad and Injures Mates

Makes Statement On Irish Affair

RT. HON. J. H. THOMAS

Dominion Secretary, who addressed the British Commons today.

As the Olympic, Capt. Fowler, rounded the Island and ran into the gale sweeping up the Straits, the lookout sighted a small yacht which seemed to be in distress. Capt. Fowler ordered his craft as near as possible to the disabled yacht and after several vain attempts managed to place a line aboard. With the aid of glasses the captain was able to distinguish the name of the yacht as the Joan M2424. There were five or six persons aboard.

With the yacht bobbing up and down on the waves it was nearly an hour before the line was placed aboard. The Olympic then turned around and towed the yacht two miles back until the shelter of Cattle Point, at the extreme south end of the Island, was reached. There the yacht was left. Her engine broke down as she was battling heavy seas on her way to Victoria from Seattle. The Olympic came along just in the nick of time as the yacht was steadily being driven towards the rocks of San Juan Island, on which she would have been dashed and pounded. Members of the party on board were plainly worried, they admitted, and greatly relieved when the trim little ferry steamer hove in sight.

FLEEING THUG FIRES AT MEN

Bandit Escapes in Vancouver After Robbing Theatre Manager

Vancouver, July 4.—One man was under arrest this afternoon as a suspect and another was being sought by police following a daring holdup in the 700 block of Heinichen Street at 10 o'clock this forenoon, when William Brown, Howe Street, manager of the Globe Theatre, was robbed of $100 cash.

The robbery was carried out as Mr. Brown was carrying the money to a bank. The holdup man approached, seized the canvas money sack and threw it into a car driven by a confederate.

Then he jumped on the running board, missed his footing and fell. He made a second attempt to board the car and fell again. The auto sped away and the bandit fled on foot into the lane leading to Robson Street.

E. H. Bayley of the City Carriage, Howe Street, and J. Carrier, Howe Street, led the pursuit when a boy yelled "thief." David Kaak, Howe Street, joined them.

As he fled along the alley the bandit turned and fired a shot at his pursuers. Then he stopped behind a telephone pole to take more careful aim and fired again. Frank Champion, motorcyclist, attempted to overtake the bandit, who disappeared through a vacant house.

Police were called and Detectives H. E. Duggan and C. W. Spence, operating in a prowler car, sighted a suspect on Robson Street near the Stonehouse Motors' place. The man recognized them and fled through the motor show room to the alley.

Detective Duggan gave chase and captured the man in an old barn. He was unarmed. He was held as suspected of being driver of the car. The armed bandit who performed the actual holdup was still at large this afternoon and police were combing the west end in their search.

Olympic Puts Line Aboard Seattle Craft and Towed Her Two Miles to Shelter

In the face of a stiff breeze sweeping in from the southwest a Seattle yacht yesterday afternoon by the ferry steamer Olympic, which was on her way into Victoria on her usual run from Bellingham.

As the Olympic, Capt. Fowler, rounded the Island and ran into the gale sweeping up the Straits, the lookout sighted a small yacht which seemed to be in distress. Capt. Fowler ordered his craft as near as possible to the disabled yacht and after several vain attempts managed to place a line aboard. With the aid of glasses the captain was able to distinguish the name of the yacht as the Joan M2424. There were five or six persons aboard.

Members of the party on board were plainly worried, they admitted, and greatly relieved when the trim little ferry steamer hove in sight.

SHIP LATE
As a result of the rescue the Olympic operated behind schedule during the rest of the day and was unable to make up lost time because of the heavy seas between here and Port Angeles. She had an extremely rough trip and from Angeles yesterday and was nearly an hour late in docking.

FIVE KILLED BY DYNAMITE CAPS

Bodies of Butte, Mont., Youths Found After Series of Blasts

Butte, Mont., Five Butte youths were killed in explosions of dynamite caps. Those killed were Joe Cranich, nineteen; Joseph Musich, eighteen; Stanley and William Strize, cousins, both nineteen, and Rudolph Kavan, nineteen.

The tragedy occurred at the ball park in Menderville, a suburb of Butte. Louis Bonetto, coming out of church, noticed a heap of debris near the ball park and tried to investigate. He found the bodies of the boys scattered over an area of 300 feet.

Witnesses said the blasting started about 11 yesterday evening and continued throughout the night. A hole appeared in the ground five inches deep and a foot and one-half in diameter where the caps had evidently been set off.

Despite their injuries, the Derman and Chass boys staggered to their own homes.

When Mr. Sewell came out of his house he quickly realized the serious nature of the boys' injuries. He phoned a doctor and then put them in his car and took them to hospital. Young Derman expired while en route to hospital. His face was badly wounded in addition to his other injuries.

The other boys were taken to hospital by their parents. Dr. R. Berman attended Chass. Dr. T. Miller attended Muir and Dr. Russell Robertson took care of Smith.

Chief Allan Rankin of the Saanich police was called and, in his investigation of the tragedy, was unable to trace the source of the dynamite caps. Apparently they had been in the barn for years.

INQUEST TO-MORROW
The inquest will be held at McCall Brothers' Funeral Home to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. Coroner E. C. Hart announced.

Boris Derman was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Derman, 501 Obed Avenue. There are two sisters and one brother surviving. The boy was born in Victoria.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with Canon Stocken officiating. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

FOUND CAPS IN OLD BARN

Three Companions Taken to Hospital and Dog Is Badly Cut; Despite Injuries Boy Goes to Nearby House For Help

An explosion of dynamite detonators he found in an old barn snuffed out the life of eight-year-old Boris Derman, 501 Obed Avenue, and sent three of his playmates to hospital yesterday afternoon. The boy died shortly after the blast, which shook nearby houses in the Gorge district. He suffered terrible injuries to the abdomen.

William Chass, aged ten, 365 Kerr Avenue, and Thomas Muir, aged eight, 375 Obed Avenue, were seriously injured but were reported recovering in the Jubilee Hospital to-day. Fred W. Smith, aged eight, 456 Davila Street, was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital suffering from shock.

The explosion took place opposite the home of R. R. Sewell, Saanich municipal clerk, at the northwest end of Obed Avenue at 3:30 o'clock.

The four lads, police learned, had been playing in an old barn where hay was stored. While clambering up and down the pile of hay the Derman boy came across a tin containing the detonators, which was set on a two-by-four high up on the side of the structure.

THREW CAN ON ROADWAY
Derman took the tin, believed to have contained four of the caps, out to the paved roadway and, while his companions stood around, he threw it down on the hard surface. The first three times nothing happened.

The fourth time he threw down the tin the caps exploded. The boys and young Derman's little dog were standing close together and the full force of the blast caught the Derman boy's stomach, particles penetrating the flesh. Flying particles of tin struck the Chass and Muir boys, wounding them seriously. The Smith boy was knocked off his feet. The dog was cut about the neck and back, but survived.

Mr. Sewell, from his house, heard the explosion. It was of considerable force, he said.

WENT FOR HELP
Despite their injuries, the Derman and Chass boys staggered to their own homes.

When Mr. Sewell came out of his house he quickly realized the serious nature of the boys' injuries. He phoned a doctor and then put them in his car and took them to hospital. Young Derman expired while en route to hospital. His face was badly wounded in addition to his other injuries.

THE ROTHERMERE PLAN

LORD ROTHERMERE HAS ARRIVED
in Canada with a three-point programme for the Imperial Economic Conference that will effect "an enormous trade revival within six months and build up an immense trade for Canada."

The first point is that Great Britain should buy from Canada seventy-five per cent of all the lumber she uses in building. This would be an excellent thing for British Columbia and the Maritime Provinces. Canada votes for this with both hands. But how does Lord Rothermere propose to persuade British importers of lumber who are paying to Baltic countries and Russia around $8.75 per thousand feet board measurement that they should pay at the very least twice as much for Canadian lumber—that is for the British Columbia product—merely because it comes from the empire? If he is able to do this, presuming the British people are also willing to shoulder higher construction costs, he will earn the undying gratitude of every British Columbian. Meanwhile, since the cost of transportation is the chief stumbling block, he might have a chat with those shipowners in the Old Country who have a large amount of idle tonnage to help his plan along.

The second point is that Great Britain should impose an ad valorem duty of one shilling a bushel on all foreign wheat and let empire wheat in free. Again both Canada's arms shoot up in the air in hearty approval. But is Lord Rothermere ready to prepare a case which the British government would feel inclined to present to the Argentine, where there is more British money invested than there is in Canada, in support of this proposal?

The third point which the newspaper peer presents is that Great Britain should impose a twenty per cent ad valorem duty on all tinned goods—meat, fruit and vegetables—and on fish, butter and cheese, whenever they come in from foreign countries. Still there would be nothing but approving shouts from Canada. Argentina, however, again comes into this picture, as do the various European countries, to all of which, of course, Britain sends large quantities of manufactured products.

In return for these concessions, Lord Rothermere says "there should be a standardization of figures over some agreed past period with regard to Canada's steel trade. Everything over and above this should be imported free from Great Britain. The same should be done with regard to chemicals, and British coal should be given free entry." He then observes:

If I had the running of this conference, I should do so with a high hand. I should say to the small trades that they had no business in it at all. They would only clutter up the way and make it impossible for the main objects to be achieved. What have little industries like confectionery, for example, to do with the issue?

From these remarks we gather that Lord Rothermere would have a limit of production imposed upon certain Canadian industries with the rest of the field reserved to similar products from Great Britain. Just what that limit would be he does not indicate beyond suggesting that it be based upon past performances. On that basis these industries would have no future; beyond the arbitrary limits that would be defined, Canada would be the happy hunting ground of the British manufacturer. It should be scarcely necessary to observe that the scheme will not be accepted in this country for one moment. Canadian industry will not agree to the imposition of any restrictions upon its expansion. It would be infinitely foolish if it did, since the industrial future of this Dominion is bound to be very great and Canadian producers naturally will expect to play the chief part in it.

Incidentally, it is useless for any interest in the Old Country to nurse the idea that Canada ought to content herself with being mainly a source of supply for raw materials for the manufacturers of other countries. The mere possession of those raw materials and her incomparable water powers must demand the development of her own manufacturing industry on a big scale.

Rothermere's contemptuous reference to "small industries" which would "clutter up the conference" will not commend itself to the approval of intelligent people in this country. Small industries are entitled to even more consideration than large industries; indeed, a country whose development depends upon a large number of small enterprises is likely to be more prosperous than one which is dominated by big combinations. One of the causes of the present economic depression is the obliteration of small industries by gigantic combinations, many of which to-day are collapsing under their own weight. It is fortunate indeed that Lord Rothermere and his kind do not have the "running of this conference." The British people so far have taken care that they are not running their own country.

REVIVING THE SUBSIDY

IT IS GRATIFYING TO LEARN THAT the Dominion government proposes to restore the subsidy for a shipping service between Pacific Coast ports and China which it cut off at the last session of Parliament. Headed by Premier Talmie, a delegation of British Columbia lumbermen interviewed the Prime Minister and Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, and explained to them the loss of business this province would sustain unless adequate facilities could again be furnished.

It will be recalled that in its last year of office the King government granted a subsidy on freight shipments to the Orient. It amounted to $92,000 annually and provided for a regular monthly sailing. Justification for such a subsidy was urged on the grounds that British Columbia exporters were competing in the Oriental market with shippers from the United States who enjoyed heavy governmental subsidies, enabling them to undercut the Canadians in the Far East. The United States subsidies ran up to between four and five million dollars a year. It was also argued that the Canadian National Railway steamship freighters from eastern Canada were largely of the nature of a subsidized service and that while eastern Canadian exporters benefited, western exporters did not, although contributing in taxes toward the maintenance of the service.

When the subsidy was granted it immediately proved advantageous, and regular sailing from Vancouver to the Orient was maintained. The volume of lumber exports to China increased tremendously, rising from an average of 30,000,000 feet in the two years 1928-29, to a total of 54,000,000 feet in 1931, with the increase still under way in the early part of this year. British Columbia exporters had established yards, agencies and connections in China that were giving splendid service in securing distribution of British Columbia lumber.

In its efforts to economize the present government discontinued this form of service to the lumbermen and its stoppage, of course, was a severe blow to one of this province's most important industries. Our exporters realized they could not retain the Chinese market without such aid, especially in view of the continuation of the subsidies to the competing United States exporters. The outlook for our lumbermen, moreover, became increasingly dark when the additional duty of three dollars a thousand feet on Canadian lumber going into the United States was announced. This accounts for the pressure brought to bear on the government at Ottawa. Surely if proper inquiries had been made before interfering with the subsidy, such an instance of false economy would not have gone on the record.

PERTINENT QUESTIONS

THERE NEVER HAS BEEN A TIME FOR many years when commodity prices, especially foodstuffs, were as low as they are to-day. This has induced a writer in The Toronto Mail and Empire to inquire what the women of the country and the various institutions which are charged with the job of looking after relief work are going to do in the way of preserving and storing fruit and vegetables in order to tide them over the winter until next year's crop comes in. We are told that those women, for instance, who see farther than to-morrow's game of bridge are getting uneasy about the winter months ahead. Then we read:

They want to know how many institutions, that are everlastingly clamoring for grants which all come out of the taxpayer, have taken advantage of strawberries at three and five cents a box. They want to know whether the "homes" and corrective and punitive establishments are going to buy fruit when it is at its lowest and do it up, as the saying is, whether they are going to lay in a sufficient store of root vegetables when the price is also low, to do them through the winter and till next year's stuff comes. They want to know why authority, which is spending millions in direct relief and so reducing respectable citizens to the level of paupers, does not organize groups for fruit-picking, instead of allowing the jobbers to buy up crops at a low figure, the fruit being left to rot on vines or trees in order that the price may be kept up, for in the jobbers' view, the fifty cents made on one basket is clearer gain than the twenty-five cents made on two. Will our women ask these questions in public meetings as persistently as they ask them amongst themselves?

These pointed questions bring us squarely up against the chief feature of the present condition of the world. The whole business of distribution has fallen down. An enormous amount of food of various kinds is in storage with very little prospect of it being sold. A dispatch from Cadillac, Sask., the other day reported that butter there is cheaper than axle grease and that farmers are using it to lubricate their buggies and wagons. Storekeepers are offering six cents a pound and the oldest farmers in the district do not remember a time when the price was so low. Yet there are many people who are going hungry in a world literally bulging with food.

The Vegreville Observer

"Archie Matheson, M.L.A., took umbrage at The Observer's statement that he, Archie, had not been in Vegreville for many moons. Mr. Matheson says he was in town a whole day just two weeks before The Observer thus slammed him and he wants to know what we are going to do about it. We do not question Mr. Matheson's veracity. He is the best. If he says he was in town, then he was in town, but we did not see him and, as a rule, we can spot him a mile off without trouble. There's only one Archie Matheson—thank God."

CANADIAN TRADE

The London Advertiser

Exports of Canadian produce last month were valued at $40,594,404, compared with $59,833,000 in May, 1931, a decrease of $19,238,600. Imports for consumption in the same month were $44,583,700 in 1932, and $78,457,000 in 1931, a decrease of $33,873,300. The greater decrease in imports than in exports brings no satisfaction in view of the great decline in the total volume of trade. For three months in succession Canada has had so-called unfavorable balances of trade, but the same condition prevailed a year ago, and export surpluses began to appear in June. Perhaps they will reappear this month. The most hopeful sign would be an increase in the export trade.

SMOTHERED IN GOLD

J. L. Garvin in The Observer

The contrast in America to-day between the accumulation of gold and the blighting of life and happiness is amongst the most unexpected and astounding things in human experience. We ventured to say a few months ago that America was cutting her own throat with a golden razor. In the economic sense this is not a metaphor but a fact. Payment of war debts by Europe, over and above the habitual balance of trade in favor of the United States, led to the prodigious accumulation of gold. The consequences were of two kinds and affected very differently the receivers and the payers. On the one hand American enterprise was lured into unprecedented degrees of optimistic imagination. Over-confidence, over-construction, over-trading of every kind; mortgaging of future purchasing power by the instalment system; jubilation in speculation—all these were carried to a height bound to end in an economic crash. Had Mephistopheles wished to manipulate America he need not have planned and worked it otherwise.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, July 4, 1907 (From The Times Files)

The water commissioner, J. Raymond, sees no cause for alarm in connection with the water situation this season. There has been a growing impression among citizens that there might be a very serious shortage in the supply before the season was out. According to the water commissioner this is not probable.

Weather forecast—Victoria and vicinity: Moderate or fresh southerly winds, generally fair and warmer.

The Canadian-Australian liner Moana, which reached quarantine last evening and arrived in port early this morning, passed through the straits during her entry trip from the Antipodes. She had a large passenger list and more than one-third embarked here.

The Victoria Automobile Club held a meeting in the Garesche Block last evening for the purpose of discussing the recent run to Alberni and also general business. A. E. Todd presided.

Within a week's time the old Victoria Hotel, on Store Street, will be running on a new and an industry which has been absent from Victoria for over ten years will be in active operation. The Mount Royal Milling and Manufacturing Company of Montreal, which has taken over the mills, has made arrangements to supply a large market in the prairie provinces from the local plant and will commence operations with a daily output of fifteen tons of the finished product, which is valued at nearly $75 a ton.

A FRIENDLY CROW

To the Editor—Your article re the crow at the Empress Hotel has prompted me to write and tell you of a young crow which has been around our neighbor's garden for about three weeks. When it first appeared it was unable to feed itself and could not fly very well, but it is improving.

The crow is in the next door garden. The crow perches up there and walks all around. It comes over to my place, perches on the fence and on my roof and on the washhouse roof. When it is in the water, taking the bath, it is very tame and is not afraid of anybody. Yesterday our neighbor was splitting wood and the crow was up on the wood pile. Needless to say, it is a source of interest to the neighbors' children, and passerby. Several who have heard of it have come to see it. I have heard of various varieties of birds as pets, but have never until now seen a pet crow.

Marie Tempest, Brilliant
British Actress, Still Delights London Audiences

London, July 4.—One of London's most popular actresses, Marie Tempest, will celebrate her sixty-eighth birthday, July 15. She made her first appearance on the stage at the Comedy Theatre in 1885, and still has power to charm and please her audiences. She made her appearance at St. James's Theatre, London, recently in "The Vinegar Tree," by Paul Osborn, an American author.

E. A. Beughan, drama critic of The News-Chronicle, pays her the following tribute: "The cryptic title, 'The Vinegar Tree,' will soon become synonymous with Marie Tempest at the very top of her form. She is a middle-aged wife of a rude, old man, Augustus Merrick, who beats her well and truly with his tongue. In the end she is grateful for a poor sort of an apology, and murmurs 'What a fool I have been.'"

"And she has been, for she has mistaken a young painter, Max Lawrence, for an older lover before her marriage, and only discovers her mistake when her husband declares his name was Lawrence Mack, and that he was a pianist. But what an adorable fool she is, skipping from one irrelevance to another as a bird skips from twig to twig."

"See her when she thinks the painter is in love with her. Marie Tempest actually grew radiant. And then when she discovers that it is her daughter, Leone, he loves, her face gradually became old and stricken."

Miss Tempest and her husband, Graham Browne, appeared at the Royal Victoria Theatre some years ago.

LADY HEATH IS DIVORCED

Sir James Heath Given Decree; She Already Married
Again in U.S.

London, July 4.—Sir James Heath was granted a decree nisi of divorce from Lady Heath, aviatrix.

They were married in 1927, but a year later Sir James announced he would not be responsible for her debts. Their money troubles continued and they were separated for long periods while Lady Heath made several long flights and one or two trips to the United States.

In 1930 she obtained a divorce at Reno, Nev., charging cruelty. Last November she was married to George Anthony Reginald Williams, British aviator, and in the following month Sir James announced he had filed a petition for divorce in Great Britain. She did not defend this suit.

Canadian Women In London Form New Social Club

London has long had its Canadian Club, which is a famous but exclusive male institution. Canadian women in London have decided that the time has come for them to get together and form a club of their own. The enthusiasm shown at the inaugural meeting held about two weeks ago, when some 200 women were present, was a happy augury for the success of the new club. For a full half hour afterwards new members were busy signing the register and paying their dollar subscription.

There was a consensus of opinion that "The Canadian Women's Club" should not be an uplift organization. Its activities are to be purely social, and while affording an opportunity for reunion to Canadian residents in London, it will also provide a centre where English visitors may make Canadian contacts. Whether the club will have premises of its own is a question for the future. For the moment it is content with a monthly at home, directed each month by a different committee, so that every member will feel she has a personal interest in the executive work.

London's luxury hotel, the Dorchester, has been placed at the disposal of the infant club on the first Tuesday in every month. Mrs. C. Howard Ferguson has been elected president and Lady McLaren Brown, vice-president. Miss E. M. Gray was elected honorary secretary and Mrs. Attlee Pitt was elected treasurer. The members of the committees are Mrs. P. B. Trustin, Mrs. J. H. Pangman, Lady Yapp, Mrs. C. W. Nason, Mrs. F. P. Burden and Miss M. Durham.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE NEYER ELDRED

Baby's first teeth usually appear from the fifth to the eighth months. At one year baby is possessed of six teeth, two below and four above; at eighteen months he has twelve teeth; and the rest of the first set of twenty appears between the eighteenth month and the thirtieth birthday.

There are always many variations from these norms. Baby may have teeth at four months or none at ten months without there being any real obvious reasons for their appearance or non-appearance.

BLAME DIET

But the usual reason for delayed teething must be attributed to faulty diet. The baby's nutrition before and after birth provides his body with heat and energy, the materials for cell growth and repair and for tooth and bone development. If some of the essential food elements are missing or are not provided in sufficient quantities, the body suffers in some noticeable way.

During the winter months we have to provide the baby with cod liver oil in addition to food; otherwise he may develop rickets in some degree. And rickets is the nutritional ailment which most often affects the development of teeth.

NOTHING WRONG

However, there seems to be nothing at all wrong with the diet of this ten-month-old baby who has no teeth. In that case there is nothing that needs vital changing or improvement.

Mrs. W. C. C. may continue in the same way, sure that inevitably the teeth will appear.

Here is her letter: "My baby weighed seven pounds and two ounces at birth and now at ten months weighs twenty-two pounds. She is fed three times daily, takes about twenty-eight ounces of whole milk, two tablespoons of cereal, two of vegetables, two of fruits or fruit pulp, egg yolk or beef pulp, fruit or fruit pulp. She is good as a general rule. She naps two or three hours in daytime and sleeps all night. She is very strong. My only complaint is that she has no teeth. Is there anything lacking in her diet to account for this? I have difficulty getting her to drink her milk by cup. Her appetite has diminished the last few weeks. Is that the result of hot weather?"

STIMULATE APPETITE

The hot weather has a very direct effect on appetite, and the imminence of teeth may temporarily destroy the desire for food. Do not force food, whatever the cause. Offer it three times a day and let baby take what she wants. Skim some of the cream from the milk, omit the cod liver oil, and the appetite will probably respond to these changes. The amounts of all the baby's additional foods are low, most children of this weight and age taking twice as much of everything mentioned, with the exception of milk.

I shall be happy to send you my leaflets on "Weaning Baby from Bottle to Cup," and "Average Age at Which Teeth Appear." A self-addressed, stamped envelope should accompany your request. This is our only requirement for these leaflets. If the baby refuses so much milk by cup, use part of the twenty-eight ounces in cooking her cereal, in serving the cereal, and in making a milk pudding for the noon meal. This will leave much less to be consumed by cup. You still have two months to break off the bottle habit.

Pupils Heard In Studio Recital

Pupils of Mrs. E. Anderson Fairbairn were presented in an attractive program representative of the modern and classical composers at a very successful recital held in her studio, 1821 Belmont Avenue, on Thursday evening. The program gained additional interest from the vocal groups contributed by Miss Marion J. Cody, while Mrs. Fairbairn herself gave the final group of piano solos, including a Last and a Chopin number. She was presented with beautiful flowers from her pupils.

The pupils taking part included: Annie McLean and Agnes Stringer, duet; Roy Clements, Mary Farr, Darroll Popham, solos; Jessie Farr and Margaret Smith, duet; Velma Anderson, Douglas Bailey, Eleanor Houston, Annie McLean, Winnifred McAdams, Agnes Stringer, solos; Eleanor Houston and Douglas Bailey, duet; Jessie Farr, Margaret Smith and Jean Johnson, solos.

Horoscope

TUESDAY, JULY 5, 1932

Good and evil influences contend in the planetary direction for today, according to astrology. It is a day for cautious action. This should be an auspicious way under which to approach employers or financiers. Promoters or political aspirants should benefit.

It should be a fairly lucky day to seek employment, except in factories. Farmers should be benefited at this time. Workers are subject to a rule that seems to be disappointing, for the stars presage delays and disappointments.

Women should find this a fairly profitable day, but not a day to be associated with uncommensurate success. They should pursue regular employment and avoid speculation. Girls may discover this to be a day of mildly romantic possibilities, but suitors probably will not much in number.

This should be a favorable day for settling old accounts and for conferences with bankers or financial advisers. Advertising and especially publicity relating to personal or business matters is well directed under this rule of the stars.

Newspapers have the forecast of increased sales through a world-wide sensation that holds ill for certain countries in Europe. There is a sign read as exceedingly sinister, since it is believed to encourage fraud and deceit of many sorts. Much misrepresentation may be expected while this configuration prevails.

If the stars are rightly read the autumn political campaign in the United States will be marked by bitter and acrimonious controversies, one of which will write a lurid page in history.

Under a planetary government silence is supposed to be golden and speech more or less perilous for persons in the public eye. Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of dangers through fraud. It is well to be on the watch for deceit. Children born on this day probably will be of profound minds and secretive natures. The subjects of this sign usually prefer to seek success alone. They enjoy detachment or at least domination where fellow-being are concerned.

David Glasgow Farragut, famous admiral, was born on this day, 1801. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Phineas T. Barnum, 1810, circus manager and successful showman.

SIDNEY PAIR ARE UNITED

Pretty Ceremony Joins Miss
Winnifred L. Arrowsmith
and Alfred A. Nunn

St. Paul's United Church, Sidney, was filled to capacity on Wednesday evening to witness the nuptial ceremony when Miss Winnifred Lockett Arrowsmith, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Arrowsmith, of Seattle, became, the bride of Alfred Arthur Nunn, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nunn, of Centre Road, Sidney. The church was very tastefully decorated by friends of the bride and the ceremony, performed by Rev. Thos. Keyworth, took place under a beautiful arch of vines, roses and sweet peas with wedding bells of the same floral design. The bride looked pretty in a dress of eggshell-georgette in simple lines and flared skirt. She wore a silk net veil fastened at the nape with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses and white carnations.

She was attended by her only sister, Miss Eva Arrowsmith, in pale blue georgette with short coat, and ankle-length flared skirt. She wore a wreath of gold leaves in her hair and carried a gladiolus bouquet with pink sweet peas. Miss Florence Nunn, sister of the groom, was the other bridesmaid, dressed in pale blue with rose jacket to match, a wreath of gladiolus in the hair and white gladiolus with pink sweet peas as a bouquet.

The groom was attended by his brother, Harold E. Nunn. The service was fully choral, the bride having been a member of the choir for some time. The traditional musical strains were played by the organist, Miss Kathleen Lowe, as the bride entered and the happy couple left the church. During the signing of the register, Miss Marjorie Wood and Miss Elsie Deville sang as a duet "O Perfect Love."

A reception was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately following the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Nunn left on a trip up island. The young couple are well known, very popular visitors to which was made by the very number of presents.

LADYSMITH NOTES

Ladysmith, July 4.—The Dominion Day celebration here was attended by many out-of-town visitors. The children were led by the mayor and aldermen. Two orchestras were also present.

At the Agricultural Grounds field sports were held. A softball game between the Athletics and Grange, with the Athletics being the winners, the score being 25-8. In the evening the Yankees defeated the Cardinals 6 to 3 in a good game which was refereed by Carl and Wargo. The day ended with a big dance in the Agricultural Hall, which was attended by a large crowd. The hall was beautifully decorated in red, white and blue. A five-piece orchestra supplied music and supper was served at midnight.

Mrs. E. Orchin and children and Mrs. W. Stickney and children of Victoria spent the holiday here with relatives. Miss Sarah Draper is visiting relatives in Victoria.

BOY EARL BACK ON HIS RANCH

Young Earl of Egmont
Greeted By His Neighbors
at Alberta Home

Canadian Press
Pridia Alta, July 4.—Back to the Rocky Mountain foothills, where he spent his early boyhood, the youthful Earl of Egmont is fast settling back to the life he left with his father to claim a fortune and title.

Reluctant to talk with newspapermen, the eighteen-year-old Earl arrived in Calgary Saturday morning and moved quietly about the city before returning to the humble ranch where he and his father lived before going to England four years ago.

Pleased with his decision to return to his boyhood home in Alberta, neighboring ranchers and farmers greeted the boy on his arrival with his uncle. There was no demonstration, just a typical western greeting by men and women who knew and who had worked with the boy and his father when money was scarce around the little Pridia ranching home.

The Earl arrived here laden with equipment used by ranchmen and cowboys, complete from stock saddle to chaps. We lost no time in donning his western outfit and swinging on to the back of a cow pony, capering over the hilly trails he once rode with his father, now buried in England, victim of a motor accident.

Among the few possessions brought from his ancestral castle in Avon, England, is the motorcycle on which he used to race around the Avon estate and of which he always speaks with boyish pride.

Scenes of neighbors have come from miles around to welcome back the Earl who left their circle a tousled haired little boy, then called Freddie Percival. With these people he will remain, again leading a cowboy life in the hills he likes so well.

There will be no forced sale of the Earl's English estates. The young Earl, native born in Canada, he was not in financial difficulties. The estate is for sale, he said, to the first person ready to pay $25,000, but financial straits is not the reason.

"Newspapers have been reiterating we were in an impoverished condition," he told interviewers, who saw him on the train. "Just because we did not see fit to return Avon Castle. We have sufficient money to keep up the estate four times over. But if we decide to stay in Canada we will certainly sell our English home if a reasonable price is offered."

Neither the young Earl nor his late father, known to his rancher neighbors in Alberta, as Fred Percival, before he inherited his title, ever complained of ill-treatment at the hands of their English neighbors, said the Earl. They were content to live quietly in England and he rather thought some people resented this.

At Hamsterley Lakeside Saturday evening the winner of the guessing contest was Miss R. Rendell, 720 Yale Street. Among the dancers were: Miss J. Kent, Miss D. Boughton, Miss R. Patt, Mrs. H. LEAP YEAR

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

"I'll have to do," she murmured, stiff back and thin, triangular shoulders, bright spots in each of Cherry's cheeks as she hurried down the stairs. He left her looking through a window. Her mother was busy over a square of needle-point. Thank fortune, she was in time. Cherry said, "Good evening, mother," as she came forward. At the sound Walter Dixon turned. "Well," he said to the girl, "you seem to be feeling better this evening. She was surprised off her guard. "Why—yes, I do feel better." Dixon moved nearer. He eyed the girl critically. "Still I'm not satisfied," he said. "Not at all satisfied with your health. I've a little surprise for you, Cherry. You and your mother are leaving for California to-morrow. Two or three months on the coast will be good for you. Exactly what you need."

"Not a word. It's settled. I've ordered the tickets." "But, father, I don't want to go to California." "Just the same you're going. I tell you I've arranged everything." The girl's face had whitened. After all, she had turned to her mother. "Please, mother," she begged. "I don't want to go away now. Why I don't need a trip anywhere. I'm perfectly well!" Dixon's voice cut in. "You will do as I say," he told the girl warningly. "Suppose I tell you that I saw you this afternoon in a taxi cab on Sixth Street. Suppose I tell you I saw the young good-for-nothing you were with? You had my instructions that you were not to see that scoundrel again, yet now you're here. Well, I'll see you don't have a second chance to break it. You're going to California."

"I didn't break my word!" the girl denied angrily. "And Dan isn't a scoundrel!" "Silence!" Suddenly the girl threw her head back. "I won't be silent!" she cried. "You've bullied everyone in this house as long as I can remember, but now I'm going to talk. You're not going to send me to California because I won't go! Do you hear that—I won't go! And there's no telling me I can't! Dan Phillips because I'm going to see him. Just as often and whenever I want to."

"Cherry, you don't know what you're saying!" Mrs. Dixon's voice was horrified. "Oh, yes, I do!" the girl insisted. She turned blazing eyes on both her parents. "I know how you and father told the servants to lie and tried to keep Dan away from me. Well, I love Dan Phillips. Yes, and I'm going to marry him!" "Cherry!"

The mother's protest was drowned by Walter Dixon's roar: "You'll apologize for what you've said, young woman, or you'll leave this house!" For an instant father daughter eyed each other. Then with a little cry Cherry turned. "I'll never apologize!" she flung over her shoulder. "I'm going away!"

Dan Phillips was whistling as he strode up the three steps that raised the Blismark to the street level. The whistle died as he swung open the heavy door and entered. The Blismark was a hotel that had seen better days. It was a comfortable place, the Blismark, with old-fashioned furniture. The walls, even when freshly papered, seemed dark and shadowed. Long since superseded by newer and larger structures, the Blismark obliged its guests by moderate prices and a pleasant tolerance of bills overdue. It had been Dan Phillips's residence for more than a year.

Dan crossed the lobby and made directly for the elevator. The car was delayed and as he waited he moved toward the desk where a man with gray hair was sorting letters. "How're you, Cap?" Any luck on the ponies to-day?"

The man behind the desk looked up, grinned. "Aw, I told you I was through with the races. No, sir—not for mine!"

It was a standing joke between them that once old "Cap" Graham had "lost his shirt" on a particularly authentic horse tip. The old man rather liked to be reminded of it. The incident suggested that in his day "Cap" had been one of the young bloods, free with his money and a game loser.

Dan laughed and the "Cap" continued sorting his letters. There would be none in the pack for Dan. His mail was addressed to The News office.

Suddenly the hotel clerk looked up. "Say," he said, "I forgot to tell you. There was a girl asking for you. She went into the parlor to wait. Must have been more than an hour ago. I don't know if she's still there."

"A girl?" Dan asked. "The 'Cap' nodded. "Yep. Asked me if Daniel Phillips of The News lived here and he in. I told her—"

"But who was she? What did she look like?" "Oh, I'm not much at describing women folks. Real nice looking, though. She didn't tell me her name. Maybe she's still there. Why don't you have a look and see?"

Phillips frowned. Someone who knew he was on The News, of course. Might be a nuisance—

The door of the elevator cage clicked open but Dan turned away. He had decided he'd just glance into the parlor and satisfy his curiosity.

The parlor of the Blismark was the one room in the hotel that clung to its faded glory. Here were assembled the most uncomfortable and imposing pieces of Victorian furniture remaining from the original collection. A huge, ornate chandelier was suspended in the centre of the ceiling, but it was not in use. Massive floor lamps with fringed, pagoda-shaped shades supplied the dim illumination.

With a carefully casual manner Dan paused in the doorway. Suddenly he moved forward. "Why, Cherry!" he exclaimed. "What in the world are you doing here?"

"What is it?" Phillips repeated. "Why, I had no idea you were here! When did you come? I'm sorry if you're waited—"

"It doesn't matter," Cherry told him. "Now that you are here. I didn't know where else to go to find you. I telephoned The News but they said you'd gone. I didn't know what to do, so I came here."

"But, Cherry, is anything the matter?" "No—I guess not. I want to talk to you, Dan."

Why Should We Consider It Degrading for a Poor Man to Marry a Rich Wife? Many a Wealthy Girl Is Sweeter Than a Poor One; and She Is Entitled to Her Own Quota of Happiness

WE WERE discussing a wealthy girl who is engaged to marry a poor boy, "Humph," exclaimed one woman, "if they do marry, she will have to support the family. Phil is the nicest chap in the world and with plenty of industry and energy, but he only gets a shoestring salary. What he makes wouldn't keep Alice in French perfume."

"Well," I replied, "what of it? I can't think of anything that you can get more fun out of than you can out of running a home, nor can I think of anything in which a rich woman can put her money that will pay her as much percentage as a good husband will."

"I wouldn't want a man I had to say," retorted the first woman.

"There is no question of buying and selling," I returned. "It is a matter of investment, but even if it were a commercial transaction, the woman wouldn't always get the hot end of the bargain. For if you had purchased a nice, handsome, well-mannered, agreeable husband over the matrimonial counter he would, at least, be a more entertaining companion than a pedigreed Pom. And he wouldn't dast talk back to you, and you would have somebody to play around with and who would step out with you of an evening without having to be bulldozed into taking you to a party. I can see where a bought husband that you selected yourself might be quite as satisfactory as a gift one that was sort of wished off on you."

"But seriously," I went on, "we are all wet in our ideas about rich women and poor men marrying. We have got it all wrong. Whenever a poor man marries a rich woman he is accused of being a fortune-hunter, and this makes self-respecting, thin-skinned men fight as if he were a girl with money as if he had the leprosy instead of a bank account. And it makes the fortune that a father has labored and scrimped to accumulate for his daughter the greatest matrimonial handicap that she can possibly have."

"Statistics show that there are more old maids among millionairesses than in any other class, and if you will look around your own circle you will observe that rich girls, as a rule, have fewer beaux, and those of an inferior quality, than poor girls. Little sads behind the counter has more dates and a better chance to make a good marriage than has Miss Million-bucks, who ranges the husband-hunting preserve of half the world."

"We act as if having money deprived a girl of every physical and mental charm and as if no man could possibly fall in love with her for herself alone, which is, of course, rank nonsense. Some of the prettiest, sweetest, cleverest, most generous high-souled girls I have ever known had millions and some of the homeliest, dullest, cattiest girls I have ever known had not a penny to bless themselves with. Take it from me that if having money can spoil a girl, so can the lack of it."

"So there is no more reason for suspecting a man of having married a rich girl for her money than there is of suspecting a man of having married a poor girl for a good cook. A girl has to have some outstanding charm that appeals to a man, and if it is her pocketbook that attracts him, at any rate she has the comfort of knowing that as long as she holds on to that he will never lose interest in her and that her money is likely to last longer than a peaches-and-cream complexion and willowy figure."

"Of course, it is easy to see why a young girl, who wants marriage to come to her wrapped up in all the pink chiffons of romance, should resent a man being influenced in the slightest degree by what she has, but I don't see why a middle-aged woman, who in past the sentimental age herself, shouldn't consider that she was getting her money's worth when she married a poor but agreeable gentleman who frankly couldn't marry at all unless somebody else could pay the butcher and baker and candlestick maker."

"Take the case of the rich widow, for instance, or the rich spinster. She is alone in the world. She has a big, fine house that rattles with emptiness with only her in it. She sits down to feasts that are tasteless because they are eaten in silence. If she wants to travel, she has to take a paid companion, or tag on to somebody who doesn't want her. If she wants to go to places of amusement, she has to make up a party, or again go as a hanger-on to friends."

"So I think she is wise and makes the best possible investment she can of her money, if she marries one of the charming gentlemen whom she is sure to know, who has every virtue except the ability to make money. As a matter of fact, I have known many such marriages, and in every instance the man was so grateful for having been taken in out of the cold and given the luxuries he had never had before, that he worshiped his wife and treated her like a queen, and they were blissfully happy together."

"We speak disparagingly of a man living on his wife's money. Why not, when she has the money? We don't think anything of a woman living on her husband's money, and in these days of feminine equality it is just as much up to the wife to support the home as it is to the husband, especially if she has the wherewithal and he hasn't. Besides, the husband who trots around Europe all summer with his wife and spends his winters at Palm Beach making things pleasant for her, may be contributing just as much to her welfare as if he was slaving in an office for her."

"As for men being too proud to take money from their wives, they take everything else that a woman can give them, things far more valuable than money, so I've never been able to see why they should balk at a few dollars."

The Beginnings of Names

Y—FROM NICKNAMES

Even to this day, we give nicknames to our friends, and sometimes these nicknames describe the persons concerned. Thus a person may be called "Shorty" because he is short, or "Tubby" because he has a somewhat rounded figure; or "Whitey" because he has white hair.

Four names which arose from nicknames.

In just that way, many family names were started. From the color of the hair or the skin came names like White, Brown, Black and Gray, also Fairhair, Fairchild and Whitelock.

"Schwartz" and "Weiss" are German names meaning "Black" and "White." Some German names came about in the same way as English names.

The beloved poet, Longfellow, must have had an ancestor who was so tall as to be nicknamed "Long-fellow." Tallman (tall man) was used as a name for the same reason.

Short men were sometimes called "Jack the Short" or "Robert the Short," thus we may see the origin of the Short family name. The small names have a similar history.

The ruddy, or reddish, skin of an ancestor gave rise to the name "Ruddy." In England long ago you might have been introduced to one of the Proud, Harold the Wise, Robert the Sage, Arthur the Moody and Edward the Gay. From such ancestors came the Proud, Wise, Sage, Moody and Gay families.

The habits of people gained nicknames for them. A man who whistled a great deal was called "Whistler." Others were nicknamed Drunkwater, Allwork, Goodchild and Goodman. Because one of our ancestors had a certain nickname does not mean that we have the same quality. Hundreds of kinds of people have united in families during the centuries. A man named Tallman may be short, and a man named Short may be tall and strong. It seems to me rather foolish, and often very unkind, to make "puns" about the name of anyone. We should respect the names of others just as we desire respect for our own names.

When you write the name of another person, make just as sure as you can that you have the spelling correctly. People do not like to see their names spelled in the wrong manner. Sometimes a telephone directory will help you find the exact spelling. Many names which are pronounced in the same way are spelled in different ways. Twenty-four riddles, five magic tricks and seven puzzles are among the interesting contents of the "Surprise Leaflet" which you may obtain by sending a letter to Uncle Ray, in care of this newspaper. Enclose a stamped envelope, carefully addressed to yourself.

BIG DUTIES ON U.S. PRODUCE

Dump Impositions Raise Tariffs in Some Cases to Nearly 50 Per Cent of Cost

A wide margin between Victoria and Seattle vegetable and fruit prices has been created by regular and dump duties on United States produce coming into Canada.

Dump duties on United States celery, apricots, cherries, onions, peaches, plums, prunes and tomatoes comprise from 25 per cent to around 50 per cent of the cost. Wholesalers claim that in some cases where the high duties prohibit the importation of the product the price of the Canadian product is in many cases almost as high as the price of the United States product would be if it were imported and the duty paid.

"In a few weeks local celery will go on the market," one wholesaler said, "but at present the consumer has to buy celery from the United States or without. He pays around 25 cents a head, 10 cents of which is duty. A seasonal duty of 2 cents a pound and a dump duty of a cent a pound raises the total duty on United States celery at present to $4.20 a case.

"Okanagan apricots will also be on the market in a few weeks. Consumers have only the United States grown fruit to eat now and it costs them between $1.75 and $1.90 a twenty-pound case, 60 cents of which is duty."

British Columbia cherries went on the market to-day at a price of 25 cents a pound. Without the present dump duty of 5 cents a pound, wholesalers say they could bring the price of the British Columbia cherries at 17 cents a pound. There is also a regular duty on this fruit of 2 cents a pound or 20 per cent of the price (whichever yields most) of the United States cost has been lifted by the exchange to the cost in Canadian funds.

There are no Canadian onions on the market now, but the regular duty of one-quarter of a cent a pound and a dump duty of a similar amount raises the price to the unusually high figures of 5 and 6 cents a pound.

Dump duties on peaches, plums and prunes will go into effect the middle of this month. When they are imposed, the total duty on peaches will be 3 cents a pound and on plums and prunes 2 cents a pound. A dump duty of 4 cents a pound on tomatoes raises the total duty to 5 cents a pound. Producers claim this particular duty has proved a great boon, since with the present 10-cent house tomato growers would have been unable to find a market for their produce. As it was, local tomatoes went as far east as Toronto.

COURT ORDERS

LAW SUIT ENDED

Appeal Court Refuses to Permit Ex-Hotelman to Re-open Action

"This case is very unfortunate, but what is the use of giving you an extension of time to bring on a futile appeal? It is a well-known point of law that, after a final order of foreclosure has been issued and there has been a subsequent sale, the foreclosure cannot be reopened," Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald this afternoon declared when refusing to permit further litigation in Miller versus Bellos.

W. S. Owen, Vancouver, counsel for the appellants Bellos, said his client was reduced to relief after his hotel was sold at auction. The hotel had been worth more than $27,000 and a debt of about $2,300 had been the basis of the foreclosure. The property had been sold northward to two men, one of whom had repeatedly promised to lend Bellos the money necessary to liquidate the mortgage.

Mr. Justice McPhillips strongly advocated granting the desired leave to appeal, believing the appellants had been lulled into a false sense of security and that the interests of justice were at stake if the allegations could be substantiated.

"The man has been stripped of everything. This case seems to have features which are deplorable. This man is on relief, that means he has no means of any kind and he comes to this court asking our indulgence. I would grant leave to appeal," His Lordship stated.

Mr. Justice Martin considered the circumstances did not justify granting the application, there being only vague unsupported allegations before the court.

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald said regarding the matter would serve no useful purpose.

The chief justice added that the case differed from others cited as precedents because, even if the leave to appeal were granted, the appellants had committed in no position to pay anything on the mortgage.

Harold Tait opposed the application and was awarded costs.

Noel Filmer Wins Nanaimo Golf Title

Nanaimo, July 4.—By defeating Jack Stevens 6 up in a thirty-six hole battle over the local course on Sunday, Noel Filmer, youthful golfer, was crowned city golf champion. This is first time since the local course was opened that the championship has not been won by either Noel Macfarlane or Dr. Margeson.

The British Columbia Court of Appeal this morning assigned a day for hearing of a long list of personal appeals by prisoners on criminal charges. W. C. Moraway, K.C., agreed to produce a number of affidavits in endeavor to speed the submission of certain reports by trial judges which have not yet been received. The appeal of Lee Goom Lim of Duncan, now on in jail, was transferred to the October sittings at the request of Frank Higgins, K.C., and the appeal of Fong Wing, now on bail was transferred to October at the request of Stuart Henderson. Hearing of the appeal of Over vs. Strand is proceeding.

CHURCH PARADE FOR SOLDIERS

Impressive Service and March Past End Militia Camp Here

Friends of Units Entertained by Canadian Scottish on Sunday

Featured by an impressive military church service in the morning and a spectacular march past in the afternoon, as well as at-homes by local units, military manoeuvres conducted here at the end of the week, closed yesterday at Heals Range.

During the afternoon the troops went through various tactical moves and drills.

In the evening officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment gave a dinner for Brigadier J. Sutherland Brown, Commander Jones of the Skeena, and Commander Hart of the Vancouver, and headquarters officers and commanding officers of all units in camp. The function was held in the Canadian Scottish mess.

Approximately 2,000 troops took part in the impressive church parade. Padre Honorary Major W. Barlow, V.D., conducted the service at which the brass band of the First Battalion (10th C.E.F.)—Canadian Scottish played under the command of the various officers.

Following the service all infantry units formed into a composite battalion of wartime strength and carried out battalion manoeuvres under the command of the various officers.

To the martial airs of the brass band and the skirling of the pipe bands of the First and second battalions of the Seaforth Highlander of Vancouver, the massed troops marched past the brigadier, who took the salute.

Early in the afternoon the mainland units embarked at Brentwood Bay on the Skeena and the Vancouver, while the island units and residents of the district gave them a hearty send-off. The two destroyers steamed out at twenty-five knots.

On Sunday afternoon the Canadian Scottish Regiment, under Col. D. B. Martin, D.S.O., M.D., Lt.-Col. Roy Sargent, second battalion, and Lt.-Col. Brooke Stephenson, first battalion (10th C.E.F.) entertained friends of the troops at a reception at the regimental officers' mess. The band played throughout the afternoon.

The N.C.O.s and men also were hosts to their friends attending the afternoon. Camp was struck at 6 o'clock.

DIED YESTERDAY

The death occurred yesterday at 617 Douglas Street, of Olive Jane Rothwell, aged seventy-one. She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. J. J. Riddle, Mrs. Percy Riddle, Victoria; Mrs. L. Roberts, Cappon, Alberta; a brother, George Mitchell, Victoria; two brothers in England and two in the United States, nine grandchildren and one great granddaughter. The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3.30 o'clock from McCall Bros. Funeral home. Rev. O. L. Jull will conduct the service after which interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park.

Philadelphia Making Challenge For National Title

Eleven-inning Win Over Brooklyn Puts Club In Third Place

After Seventeen Years Phillies Come to Life and Threaten Leaders in Major League; Pittsburgh Regains Lead By Win Over Chicago; Third Straight Win Over Washington Put A's in Second Place in American

It's been seventeen long years since the Phillies have won a National League pennant and Burt Shotton's men believe it's high time they did something about it.

Slowly but surely Shotton has been building a formidable team out of what once was one of the major league's worst aggregations.

The Phil's thrilling 4-to-3 victory over Brooklyn in eleven innings yesterday sent them into a virtual tie for third place with the Boston Braves, only a game back of the second-place Cubs and a game and a half behind the leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Pirates regained the lead by beating the Chicago Cubs 5 to 4.

New York Giants moved into sixth place by beating the Braves 5 to 2 behind Carl Hubbell's tight pitching. Shanty Hogan hit his third homer in as many days.

REDS WHIP CARDS
Triples by Crabtree, Hendrick and Lombardi and a walk gave Cincinnati Reds a 4-to-2 victory over St. Louis Cardinals.

In the American League Philadelphia Athletics moved into second place by winning their third straight from Washington, 4 to 3. The defeat dropped the Senators into fifth place.

Home runs by Giesel and Averill in the fourth enabled Cleveland to stop Detroit, 7 to 5, behind Clint Brown's tight pitching.

New York Yankees, eight and a half games in front of the field, pounded the St. Louis Browns 10 to 0, with a 13-to-2 victory over Boston Red Sox, scoring nine runs in the sixth frame.

St. Louis Browns could not overcome an early Chicago White Sox lead and went down to defeat, 7 to 4.

NATIONAL LEAGUE
Brooklyn, N.Y., July 4.—Pinkie Whitney almost singlehandedly ruined the Yankees and the Brooklyn Dodgers here yesterday. Whitney's bat drove in all the runs of Philadelphia's 4 to 3 inning victory.

Whitney's Texas League single in the first inning drove in Klein with the opening run of the game. With two out and Hurst on in the ninth and Brooklyn leading, 3 to 1, Whitney tied up the game with a home run into the left field stands. With two out in the tenth and Bartell on third, he singled to left to drive home the winning run.

New York, July 4.—Carl Hubbell's pitching gave the Giants the odd game of the season. Brooklyn, Braves' the Giants winning by a score of 5 to 2.

The Giants pulled up an early lead at the expense of Bob Brown. Brown, a rookie right-hander, and was never headed.

Shanty Hogan made his third homer in three days with Ott on base in the second, to put the Giants in the lead, while Wally Merger made his third of the four-game series with none on in the fifth.

R. H. E.

New York..... 5 8 0
Batteries: Brown, Frankhouse, Cunningham and Spohrer; Hubbell and Hogan.

Chicago, July 4.—Pittsburgh took the lead in the National League yesterday by winning a six-inning game from the Chicago Cubs, 5 to 4. A double-header was scheduled, but a driving rain that suddenly became a heavy shower, ended matters after six innings of the opener. The teams departed for Pittsburgh to renew their battle in two games to-day.

Pat Malone was knocked from the box in the fourth, when the Pirates touched him for three runs. Pittsburgh also connected for two counters in the second.

Cincinnati, O., July 4.—Three triples in one inning, from the bats of long silent big guns of the Cincinnati Reds, brought a 4 to 2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals yesterday.

The triples came in the seventh, with the Cardinals leading, 2 to 1. Crabtree,

HITTING WINS FOR MONTREAL

Defeat Buffalo 7 to 2 in International League Ball; Toronto Defeated

Heavy hitting by the Montreal Royals gave them a 7 to 2 decision over Buffalo Bisons in the International League yesterday. Horace Lisenbee, make his first start on the mound for Bisons and fanned ten of the Montreal hitters, but the long blows, including homers by Cippie and Koettger, proved his undoing. Ollie Carnegie hit his twenty-first home run of the season for Bisons.

Newark copped both ends of a double-header with Jersey City, while Reading and Rochester split a twin bill. Rochester marked up a single victory over Toronto.

Playing at home Rochester came through with one big inning against Guy Cantrell, scoring six runs in the seventh, for a 7 to 4 victory over Leafs. Selkirk connected for a circuit blow.

Newark overcame Jersey City, 8 to 2, to win the first game, and 9 to 2 to cop the nightcap at Jersey City. The second game was held up for twenty minutes after the fans showered "Tory" Parker with pop bottles. Saltgaver, Thompson and Outen hit homers in the nightcap.

Reading annexed the first game of the double-header with Baltimore on Oriole ground, 7 to 5, but lost the second game, a seven-inning affair, 2 to 1. Richmond led Reading to one hit in the nightcap, while his teammates collected seven singles off Milledale.

Top Flight Wins Arlington Oaks

Chicago, July 4.—Top Flight, the entry of C. V. Whitney of New York, won the $15,000 Arlington Oaks, by two lengths Saturday, with Evening second and Parry third.

Top Flight went to the post a 4 to 5 favorite and paid $3.68 to win, $2.58 to place and $2.42 to show. Place prize on Evening was $2.94 and $2.94 to show. Parry paid $5.16 to show.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
Washington, July 4.—Washington Senators slid almost into the second division yesterday by taking another beating from the Philadelphia Athletics, 4-to-3.

It was the third successive defeat for the slumping Senators, who Saturday dropped a double-header to Connie Mack's Aces.

Alvin Crowder pitched winning ball for Washington, allowing only four hits before he was taken out for a pinch hitter in the seventh, but two unearned runs in the first, inning, tossed the game away. Myer's error on Cochran's grounder paved the way for the defeat.

Marberry went in for Crowder in the eighth and allowed three hits and the losing run.

T. Hampson Only Titleholder to Repeat in Monster Meet at White City Stadium

F. P. Reid Wins 100-Yard Dash in 9.9-10; British Olympic Team Announced

A thirty-one-end game, the final total being Nansimo 237 shots, Burnside 230 shots.

Nansimo women were not quite so successful as the men, being ten down to a strong Burnside four. The results were: Nansimo (Cope, Good, Barton and Dixon), 17; Burnside (Playfair, Bennett, Mercer and Hancock), 27.

White City Stadium, London, July 4.—The British Amateur Athletic Association had a flock of brand new champions to-day, who in winning their titles on the final day of the big meet here came close to world record time in only two instances. Only one champion repeated, T. Hampson, England, in the half-mile run.

The nearest to world record time was hung up by F. P. Reid in winning the 100-yard dash, finishing in 9.9-10 seconds, two-fifths of a second slower than the record listed for Percy Williams, Canada, and Frank Wykoff, United States.

Games at Hamilton, Ont., two years ago who are included in the Olympic team are Lord David Burghley, 130 and 440-yard hurdles; T. Hampson, half mile; R. H. Thomas, mile, and S. L. Englehart, 220-yard titleholder.

ENGLISH TEAM
Lord Burghley will captain the English team, which is as follows:
100 metres—F. L. Reid, English champion, Fuller and Page.
200 metres—Reid, English champion; Englehart, Empire champion, and Fuller.

400 metres—T. Hampson; Stoneley, English champion, and either G. L. Rampling or Powell.
800 metres—Hampson, Empire and English champion, and Powell.
1,500 metres—R. H. Thomas, Empire champion; Cornes, English champion; McDonald, Burns, Bailey and Eveson.

110 metres hurdles—Lord Burghley, Empire champion; Finlay, English champion, and Harper.

WALK AWAY
Victoria's novice row, stroked by Chris Usher, rowing like veterans, waited away from the crab-catching Vancouver entry in the race to finish about nine tenths ahead of the main-lauders over the mile course in five minutes fifty-one and three-fifths seconds.

In the senior quarter-mile dash De-Mille had the race all the way. The interest lay in the fight between Art Speed and Babs Jagard for second place. Speed was rowing a close second until the last 100 yards when Jagard pulled up his stroke and just missed the Victorian out. The time was one minute thirty-seven and three-fifths seconds.

Beaten by a length and a quarter by the husky Washington Athletic Club eight, Victoria, stroked by Dan Moses, put up a good showing in the exhibition race.

The J.B.A.A. boat for the event which might have ended far differently had the Capitals practised in one of the big shells for a week or two. The time was seven minutes thirty-five and two-fifths seconds.

Throughout the afternoon the Shrine Band, in full regalia, played at the finish. Mayor Leeming presented prizes to the victorious crewmen during the regatta dance at the Shrine Auditorium on Saturday evening.

NINE DIE IN TEXAS FLOODS

Heavy Rainfall Sends Rivers Out of Banks in Southern Districts

Associated Press
San Antonio, Texas, July 4.—Flood waters bore death and destruction across a wide area of southern Texas yesterday evening. Boiling fan-wise over inadequate river channel toward the Gulf of Mexico, the flood claimed nine lives and a heavy property toll in the area between San Antonio and the border town of Laredo.

Soldiers and policemen united in rescue work.

Heroinism was general. Three persons died in attempts to save others. Military pilots flew over the lowlands to locate marooned families and drop messages of cheer.

Receding in the upper stretches of the Guadalupe, Nueces and Rio Rivers after rises which set a record for forty years, the waters churned southward to threaten new damage to railroads, highways and homes.

The main line of the Missouri Pacific, connecting San Antonio and Laredo and Mexico, was cut by the Rio River between Pearland and Dilley. Ranchers lost goats, sheep and cattle by the score as the rivers, whipped by rainfall ranging up to twenty-nine inches at one point in thirty-six hours, poured toward the Gulf.

Houses were swept away. Summer cabins were demolished. With wire communication crippled, the fate of several towns was in doubt.

SUNSHINE CAMP REQUIRES FUNDS

Social Service League Has Raised Only Half of Money Needed For Summer

The Social Service League is sponsoring for the ninth year, the Sunshine Camp at Kalamazoo Beach for the sole purpose of giving poor small girls and boys, with their mothers, the opportunity to bask in the glorious sunshine and to swim in the clear blue waters of Sooke Harbor. Bathing suits, donated by the Rotary Club, are provided so that no one need miss the freshness of a daily swim. Those who are unable to swim are taught by the camp assistant who also takes the children on hikes through the woods and organizes games and reads fanciful stories from books sent to camp by the Victoria Public Library.

The Social Service League cannot offer this holiday to the children unless they receive the necessary funds. Of the required sum of $2,000 to conduct the camp for the summer, the league is in receipt of $971.82. The Junior Department of the First United Sunday School has given up its annual picnic this summer in order to make a cash donation toward the Sunshine Camp. The superintendent of that group said: "Our boys and girls are happy to be able to help the Social Service League in their good work. They are satisfied that they are not losing, but rather are giving up their picnic for once so that others might enjoy an outing such as the league offers."

No matter how small a contribution might be, it will be most acceptably received at the league office, Room 48, Arcade Building.

ASK BORAH TO LEAD PARTY

Prohibition Party of U.S. Holds Convention at Indianapolis

Associated Press
Indianapolis, Ind., July 4.—Hoping Senator William E. Borah may lead them in a fighting campaign for the presidency, members of the Prohibition Party, stirred to militant action by the repeal and re-submission stands of the Democrats and Republicans, gathered here today for their quadrennial national convention.

The party's national chairman, D. Leigh Colvin, sped to the city from a conference with the Idaho Senator at Washington, withholding meanwhile any intimation of how Borah had received his proposal. The Senator, too, was silent, referring inquiries to Mr. Colvin.

Borah, for the first time in a career of insurgency, has bolted the Republican presidential ticket because of the party's stand for the submission to state conventions of an amendment intended to repeal the 18th Amendment.

Arriving delegates made no secret of their high hope that the Senator would accept the nomination. On the other hand, those in Washington familiar with his views were doubtful and quoted him as having said the prohibition issue was not one on which a successful third party could be based.

BEAVERBROOK IN BANK CAMPAIGN

Canadian Press
London, July 4.—Holders of bank accounts who have had to pay interest on overdrafts at 5 per cent or more are eagerly following the latest newspaper campaign of Lord Beaverbrook.

The banks are being criticised by the newspaper peer for what he regards as an undue disparity between the rate of interest charged to borrowers and that allowed to depositors. In the columns of his newspaper, The London Daily Express, Lord Beaverbrook reveals that he attempted to transfer from one of the "big five" London branches a deposit of £55,000, which was earning interest at 1/2 of 1 per cent, to a country branch of the same bank, where interest on deposits was allowed at 2 per cent.

Officials of the bank would not comment to the increased rate of interest, states Lord Beaverbrook in his article, so he transferred the account to a country branch of another member of the "big five," which paid him the 2 per cent, subject to a week's notice of withdrawal.

The "big five" in English banking are Barclay's Bank Limited, Lloyd's, Midland, National and Westminster.
